

In collective worship we have been thinking carefully about people who help us. We have come to realise how lucky we are to have all the special and hardworking people we have in this country.